

Investment Manager Guide

Sandhurst Trustees Limited (Sandhurst) aims to create wealth for investors by investing either directly in the market or indirectly through underlying managed investment schemes managed by a selection of quality investment managers, including Sandhurst itself. This approach involves allocating investment decisions to a variety of managers who specialise in managing specific asset classes.

We call this the 'manage the manager' approach. This approach is founded on our belief that it is unlikely one manager will be successful across all asset classes in the medium to long-term. The investment managers we select all share one common characteristic – they have expertise in their field and have a record of delivering competitive investment performance over the long-term.

The information contained in the table is correct as at 20 December 2017.

Bennelong Australian Equity Partners Pty Ltd

BAEP is a genuinely active fund manager with an experienced investment team that takes a research-intensive bottom-up stock picking approach to investing.

Bennelong's Investment Philosophy

BAEP emphasises quality companies with strong growth prospects, as it believes that these companies are best positioned to grow shareholder value over time and to do so with generally less risk. BAEP believes that share prices generally reflect market expectations of future earnings, and that returns are therefore driven by performance relative to those expectations. Accordingly, the firm seeks to invest in companies whose prospects are underestimated by the market and whose shares are therefore attractively valued and offer outsized returns. Recognising the limited number of such opportunities, BAEP is very selective in hand-picking those stocks it includes in assembling its portfolios.

BTIM's Investment Philosophy

Investing with BTIM gives their individual and institutional customers access to a diverse range of investment choices, covering a wide range of asset classes, using different investment approaches.

Their teams actively manage investments in Australian equities and listed property, Australian and international fixed interest, multi asset portfolios and alternative investments. J O Hambro Capital Management, 100% owned by BTIM, actively manages a range of different global and regional equity investment strategies.

External managers sub-advise to BTIM in certain asset classes including global property, global alternative investments and some regional equity investments. As a result, Epoch's security selection process is focused on free cash flow metrics and capital allocation as opposed to traditional accounting based metrics such as price-to-book and price-to-earnings. In Epoch's view, the key to producing superior risk adjusted equity returns is the identification of companies with a consistent ability to both generate free cash flow and to properly allocate it among internal reinvestment opportunities, acquisitions, dividends, share repurchases and debt repayments.

The investment manager employs a disciplined, bottom-up investment philosophy that they believe has the potential to deliver alpha over a full market cycle. The investment team's approach is focused on building a concentrated portfolio of high quality, sustainable growth companies, by searching across industries and countries looking for investments that meet its growth, quality, and valuation criteria. The strategy assumes a long-term perspective, investing in companies it believes have a sustainable business model and growth attributes that can be held for a three to five year period. The investment manager's approach results in a best ideas portfolio of approximately 40 securities. Throughout the portfolio construction process, the investment team's primary focus is on stock selection. Accordingly, the portfolio's industry, country or regional weightings may differ significantly from Benchmark weightings. By limiting overlap of economic exposure, the portfolio maintains reasonable risk levels and diversification. The strategy utilises a roughly, equal weighted approach, and will rebalance positions based on market movements and valuation support.

Franklin Templeton's Investment Philosophy

International Fixed Interest

The investment manager believes that a portfolio built around a diversified set of active management positions has the potential to generate the most attractive information ratios over a full market cycle. The investment team seeks to accomplish this by implementing a large number of small, low-correlated active positions, thus reducing the risk of poor performance from any single active position. Utilising the significant bottom-up resources of the Global Fixed Income Group platform and an integrated quantitative research group, the strategy seeks to identify and exploit market inefficiencies within a disciplined risk management process.

Henderson's Investment Philosophy

Australian Fixed Interest

The Henderson Australian Fixed Interest Team's (Team) investment approach is fundamentally driven and seeks to take advantage of situations where market pricing has become misaligned with economic and investment fundamentals.

The Team believes that investment markets are at times, influenced by non-fundamental factors that cause prices to periodically overshoot their fair values. For Australian fixed interest portfolios the biggest inefficiency that the Team seeks to exploit is the disproportionate impact that short term factors have on the valuation of long term securities.

Using an active approach, the Team seeks to add value relative to market benchmarks by identifying these situations and constructing portfolios to capture value as these mispricings unwind. In Australian fixed interest, this can occur in the absolute level of interest rates, the shape of the yield curve, the relative value between sectors or the pricing of individual securities.

Macquarie Investment Management Global Limited

Macquarie Investment Management delivers a full-service offering across a range of asset classes including fixed interest, listed equities (domestic and international) and infrastructure securities to both institutional and retail clients in Australia and the US, with selective offerings in other regions.

Australian Shares

Macquarie has three key beliefs that they apply in their investment philosophy. Firstly, that every company has a price meaning there is no restriction to buying a certain type or style of security. Secondly, that the stock market is efficient in the long run, but can be inefficient in the short term providing opportunities because the market tends to focus on short term issues. Thirdly, that undervalued companies will only be re-priced once expectations are met or exceeded. And lastly, Fundamental research is the best way to forecast earnings and identify investment opportunities.

Fixed Interest

Macquarie's approach to fixed income management is to add value through active trading, while managing the downside, considering capital preservation to be paramount with a strong respect for liquidity risk. Their investment philosophy, based on their extensive in-house research, leads them to invest in high quality and traditionally very liquid securities.

International Shares

Macquarie uses a range of active techniques that aim to add value without greatly increasing the overall risk. Each position is monitored daily to ensure it remains within strict equity, sector and country limits and the reasons for holding it are still valid. Macquarie continually assesses new techniques as potential methods of adding value. To maintain liquidity, Macquarie may use derivatives to gain exposure to some markets and currencies without investing directly in shares. Macquarie's international investments are not hedged back to Australian dollars.
